Vasper* is based on three scientifically proven principles – compression technology, cooling and interval training. When all principles are working together, the results are extraordinary.

Compression and cooling create the effect of a high intensity (anaerobic) exercise without the time, effort, and muscle damage it takes to achieve the same results with conventional exercise. Instead of feeling tired and sore, Vasper leaves you energized and rejuvenated, alleviating your body aches and pains.

The goal with Vasper is to minimally stress the muscles, still triggering a systemic recovery response. This new, patented health and rehabilitation technology stimulates the natural production of anabolic hormones, which have wide-ranging health, rehabilitation and performance benefits.

VASPER ~

the gift that will take years off your body and add years to your life

"The first week I ever worked with Vasper I noticed an immediate pick up in my capacity for energy output. My legs were stronger and more stable walking up stairs. I had been using the words 'bone tired' about how my legs felt walking upstairs. They had also been very unstable and I was holding on to handrails to steady myself. Now I feel like I did in my 40's, and wouldn't think of using a hand rail to walk down stairs."
